DECKS ARE CLEARED FOR FIRST GAME

McGill Team Has a Light Drill

EVEN CHANCES

"Miss America" and "Miss Mount Royal" to be There

The latest development in the plans of the Basketball Club in the conducting of the game today is the acceptance of an invitation to open the game from "Miss America" and "Miss Mount Royal." The management of the basketball club have been exerting every effort to have these two noted ladies grace the game by their attendance and their efforts have been rewarded. The Mandolin Club will also be out in force to play between the periods.

The Junior team of the City League have consented to act as ushers and to take care of the seating accommodations. The gallery has been set aside for the staff of the University and their wives to whom the basketball club extend an invitation to be present. There is also a huge block of seats being held for the R.V.C., who it is hoped will turn out to support the team. Seats have also been set aside for any who wish to bring ladies and do not desire to be in the rush seats. However, all seats that are to be held will at two-thirty be released and may be had by the first to get there after that time.

The Intermediate "A" and "B" game will be the first attraction. These teams are very closely matched and for some time there has been considerable argument as to the ability of the two teams. As a curtain raiser, it should be a thriller and the teams both are confident of victory so that neither will give up till the last whistle. This game it is expected will start at a quarter to two. The Senior game is set for two-thirty.

The Toronto team, after their victory over Queen's, come to Montreal with every intent to win. Although it is not wise to compare scores it is interesting to note that the Toronto team on its trip to the States was defeated by the famous Crescent Athletic Club team while McGill was able to score a win against this team. Thus it is most evident that McGill has a slight edge on the opposition and on her home courts the Red and White should be able to score. The Toronto team will be the first attraction.

DR. CHANT TELLS OF RECENT TRIP

Astronomical Society Hears of Australian Expedition

A very interesting address was given by Dr. Chant of Toronto University before the Astronomical Society last evening. The address took the form of a detailed account of the Australian expedition from which Dr. Chant has recently returned and was illustrated with a large number of lantern slides.

In his opening remarks Dr. Chant explained the purpose of the above mentioned expedition which was to gather data which might serve to prove or disprove the theory advanced by Mr. Einstein. This theory in part is that rays of light coming from certain fixed stars beyond the sun are, while passing the sun, caused to bend inward and thus these stars appear to us to be farther removed from the sun than in reality they are. Since no stars are visible when the sun is shining the only way in which measurements and observations can be made is during a total eclipse. It was for this purpose that Dr. Chant accompanied by Prof. Young of Victoria, B.C., went to a place on the west coast of Australia where a total eclipse was visible. They were equipped with most modern apparatus, including a specially constructed camera for taking photographs of the sun while eclipsed and also getting a picture of the stars near it. They were successful in obtaining a number of very good plates which are now in the possession of Prof. Young who is making a series of very complicated and difficult measurements, the results of which may throw a good deal of light on the Einstein theory. Dr. Grant spoke most warmly of the generosity and kindness of the Australian government in assisting them to transport themselves and their apparatus and supplying them with provisions, mail communications, etc. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker at the end of the address, after which the meeting adjourned.

FIRST 1923 INFORMAL IS GAY AFFAIR

Students Forget Worries of Exam. Week

LOVELY LADIES

Fairest of Fair Sex Grace Halls of Union

The first Informal of 1923 left nothing to be desired, according to those fortunate who were present in the Union last night. The crowd evidently considered that although a trifle beated yet this was a good opportunity for a post exam. celebration and found the entertainment provided very much to their taste.

The patronesses of the evening were: Miss Smellie of the M.S.P.E. Hostel, and Miss Pickle of the R.V.C. The McGill Dance Orchestra supplied the music. The following were present:—

POPULARITY OF SKI-ING IS ON INCREASE

Winter Sports Club has Over 175 Members

COMING EVENTS

Interfaculty Entrants Must Sign Up by Wednesday

One of the most flourishing athletic organizations in the University this year is the Ski and Snowshoe Club. In common with the skiing organizations throughout the country the ever-increasing popularity of this winter sport has had the effect of increasing the membership of the club to a very great degree, so that at the present time there are more than 175 names on the roll.

The fine weather lately has given good opportunities for practice and the club members are getting into shape for the competitions which are coming in the near future. Up till the present novice ski dashes and cross country runs have been held, and much good new material has been shown to be present, the probability being that several Freshmen will make the University team. The team will be picked after the eliminations held on February 1, 2 and 3. The events will be as follows:

Feb. 1—Ski Proficiency, Ski Jumps, afternoon.

Feb. 2—Ski Dash, Snowshoe Dash, 5 p.m.

Feb. 3—Ski Cross Country, Snowshoe Cross Country, afternoon.

As in the past, these will form an interfaculty competition, and all men possible are urged to enter the events.

The intercollegiate team will be picked from the first two men in each ski event and three snowshoers, making a team of 12.

The awards obtainable are as follows: For all events except ski and snowshoe dashes, a small plain "M" for five or more points in Interfaculty competition, and a large plain M for 5 or more points in Intercollegiate competitions.

There will be two Intercollegiate meets this year, at Dartmouth on February 9 and 10, and here in Montreal on February 16 and 17. The entry list for the Interfaculty meet will close on Wednesday evening.

The list will be posted on the notice board in the Union from Monday to Wednesday. Every student at the University is eligible and all skiers and snowshoers should enter the meet, affording as it does a chance to win a college letter and also to compete for one's own faculty.

SIR ROBERT HORNE AT CANADIAN CLUB

Distinguished Englishman to Address Students Tuesday

Sir Robert Horne, ex-Chancellor of the British Exchequer, will address the student body under the auspices of the McGill Canadian Club next Tuesday afternoon at 8 P.M. in the ballroom of the Union. His address is expected to deal largely with economic conditions in Great Britain and Europe generally.

Sir Robert was Chancellor of the Exchequer in the recent Lloyd George administration and did very good work in piloting the finances of the country through the troublesome after-war period.

Sir Robert Horne is a M.A., L.L.B., Chancellor of the Exchequer, 1921, M.P. (Coalition Unionist) and Grand Officer of the Crown of Italy, etc., etc.

A brief resume of his life is as follows:—

He was educated at Watson's College, Edinburgh; and also at the University of Glasgow. Sir Robert became president of the University Conservative Club, and also of the Students' Representative Council. He is a brilliant scholar and during his college days won many scholarships.

Sir Robert Horne took an active part in the last war. He was a Lt.-Col., and in 1918 he became the Third Civil Lord of the Admiralty.

The distinguished statesman is visiting America chiefly on business. He has already spoken in New York, Toronto, Ottawa, and various Canadian Clubs. He is shortly returning to England.

Don Cecil: "I want two good seats for this afternoon in the coolest part of the house."

Ticket Agent: "All right, sir; here are two in 'Z row'."—Ex.

Reasonably Priced Cigarette Cases

The young man who demands up-to-dateness in his cigarette case as much as in his cravats and at the same time a fitting restraint in price, will find exactly what he desires in Mappin & Webb cigarette cases.

We show sterling silver cigarette cases as low as $5. This case holds ten cigarettes, in two rows, and is handsomely plain.

In finest London leather is a pin morocco cigarette case for 20 cigarettes. This is our own manufacture and superior value at $3.50.

INDICTMENT FOR COMMUNISTIC PLOT

Cabinet Considers Matter This Morning

This morning there is to be held a short meeting of the cabinet of the government in the Law Building. No definite announcement has yet been made as to what the subject to be brought up is but rumors that are well founded state that a prominent man may be indicted at the next meeting of Parliament for his connection with Communistic plots.

Already plans are underway to carry out this matter and the final decision it is said rests with the cabinet.

A RUSSIAN FOLKSONG

Translated and Annotated by George Elias Metry. Set in verse by Axiphiles.

The following stanzas have been sung annually in Russian villages for the last two hundred years. Upon the advent of the first heavy frost, the male inhabitants of all ages assemble at the communal bathhouse. There the peasants disrobe: winter underwear is distributed to them; and at a given signal the garments are put on. As they march into the bathhouse a choir renders the song.

The history of this quaint masterpiece is too well known to bear repetition here; but even the better equipped of the modern critics will be surprised to learn that A. E. Housman owes much of his economy of phrasing to these old verses.

I take the opportunity of denying all rumors of my connection with the Moscow Art Theatre.

Chefchek! Drehdel! Fnyutnye! Schluk! (1)

Come a-running, every mujik!

Can't you see your beards are freezing

With the dripping of the kwas?

Every droschke-driver (2) blows his Chilly hands; and people's noses

Scarlet are with constant sneezing;

Of it kaltes Wasser nass. (3)

Northward all the geese are goosing;

Wolves are wolving; moose are moosing. (4)

Soon the heavens will be pouring

Sodden sacks of slushy snow—
This is not the time for Zowsky—

ROOTERS EXPECTED AT HIGH SCHOOL

"Nuts" Nutting Will Lead Thundering Thousand

"Nuts" Nutting will be out today to lead the "thundering thousand" that are expected out to back up the Red and White team. The basketball club have done everything in their power to get the students to back up the five men who will be on the floor fighting for the whole University. The Mandolin Club will be on deck: "Miss America" and "Miss Mount Royal" will be there and there is no chance to get into the game. The fact remains that anyone who desires to see the game from a seat or hopes to see it at all should be at the floor at least at two o'clock, as outsiders as well as students will be there to fill the seats. The Intermediate teams are set to get into action by 1.45, so that the games will be run off promptly and the seniors will be on the floor at the close of the first game.

Stormy winter is oppressing!
Nundikes, begin undressing!

Father, brother, son and nevy,

Take off all that you have on! (6)

Window-panes are white with rime;

Rivers start to freeze; 'tis time the Soft and warm and fleecy heavy

Woolen underwear to don!

stok!!! (7)

(1)—John! Bill! Joe! Jim!

(2)—Bull-boy; equivalent to our cowboy. The origin of this word would be an interesting subject for a doctor's dissertation.

(3)—The translation of this sentence would, perhaps, have offended chaste American ears: so it was thought advisable to leave it in the original Russian.

(4)—The Russian, in his intense poetic ecstasy, often uses a noun for a verb. Its advantages are obvious.

(5)—A popular gambling game.

(6)—cf. Edman, Human Traits, pp. 46 et seq.

(7)—The final exuberant cry of delight, uttered when the warmth of the garments is first felt. The exclamation is not fit to be printed, even in Russian; but the flaming vitality of the last syllable will enable the more imaginative reader to sense the tremendous feeling of the entire expression.—Columbia Spectator.

A JUSTIFICATION OF TYPES

A comparison of the students attending colleges in America with the student taking a course of lectures in European universities will bring out several striking points of difference in the relative positions of the two classes. We are told that the scholar of the Old Country is keenly interested in politics, active in discussions of public interest, decidedly concerned in matters offering opportunity for debate, anxious to improve his mental capacities with consideration for his physical welfare only as a secondary element. On the other hand we are asked to regard the undergraduate of Canadian and American institutions of learning, to note his apparent unconcern in questions not essentially relevant to the course which he may be taking, his preference for games rather than for argument, his disinclination, for the most part, to subordinate the practical side of his education to the theoretical. We are thus informed, and then we are expected to raise our hands in approbation of the European and in deprecation of the American and Canadian. As to the rightness or wrongness of the information given to us we are not to enquire; it is taken for granted that we shall believe it.

After all the two types of students are the logical outcome of their environment and associations. The student in Europe—excepting, of course, those of the universities of England—have, seemingly, little, if any, of that phase of university life to which we are constrained to refer as "campus activity"; athletics, as they are recognized here, are in a very elementary stage; in other words, outside of his actual studies our brother collegian in Europe has scant scope for the exercise of his faculties about the college. It is not to be wondered then that he turns to the realm of politics and such as a means of relieving his mind from the monotony of his surroundings. Should it be any more a matter of amazement that the student with whom we are more intimately acquainted on this side of the water reverts with zeal to the numerous activities about the campus which invite his attention, and that in his devotion to them he is apt, very apt, we fear, to ignore happenings of international consequence insofar as they affect his college life? This larger field of college activity is not held up as a justification for such indifference; it is simply stated as being a reason. And being such, we doubt if it should be condemned on that account; and we question, too, whether those who participate in it ought to be severely censured. It is but natural that one should be most deeply concerned in that which most immediately concerns him.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The schedule of the Canadian Intercollegiate Hockey Union has passed the primary stage, and the teams entered in it are fast being ranked according to the showings they have made. Each game has been hard-fought; that in Kingston last evening being no less so than the others. McGill was defeated by the narrow margin of one point. The score would seem to indicate the run of the play, and that the Queen's men did not win without a battle may be taken for granted. The closeness of previous contests should render those called for the future doubly interesting, and, we may say, doubly crucial.

McGill Informal Dances have always been a feature of the college year. That held last night was no exception, and was a worthy successor to those which preceded it. Both from the standpoint of enjoyment of the guests and of financial remuneration to the Union, these dances are deserving of commendation. There is, however, one criticism which might be launched, not against the dances but rather against a certain tendency evident during the last year or so converting them from the informal affairs which they were always intended to be into functions verging perilously close upon the formal occasions for which they propose to be an alternative. Ostensibly they are held for the benefit of those unable to afford the expense of the more pretentious affairs; they are advertised as being strictly informal; and yet we venture to say that at least two-thirds of the male attendance is dressed in the conventional dinner jacket, the usual form of attire at the "formals". We believe that this procedure ought to be discouraged, if for no other reason than to assist the man who may not possess the requisite dress clothes, or possibly as a means of distinguishing "informals" from the "formals".

ning team will be in his old position same team that carried the Blue and White last year. They are a veteran group of players and have played in Montreal before. Without doubt they will be in perfect shape and the resulting game will be a fast one. Manley will handle the game. Although he has refereed but few games in the city having been here but a short time, already in basketball circles he has made a name for himself because of his ability to keep the play fast and clean.

The Red and White team will be the same that represented McGill in the city league and on the tour to the States. Mendelsohn, star forward of last year's team, will be in one of the forward berths, while Little or Turpel will hold down the other side of the floor. Manson, the captain of the team and the leading pivot man in Canadian basketball, will be in the centre while Crain of last year's winning ronto team is for the most part the on the defence. Hilton and Aramon will be on the floor in the other defence posts. Blumenstein will be on deck to fill in the defence if needed. These players are for the most part old-timers to the game and six of them played on the squad which won the title last year.

The Toronto team is also similar to that which lined up against the Red and White last year. McLean, Burgess and Fraser will make up the forward line of the visiting team. Bell will be in centre and Graham, Caple and Braid will be on the defence. These players are all old-timers at Intercollegiate Basketball.

The result of the game depends more on the speed with which the teams get under way than any other one thing. Due to the fact that it is contrary to the rulings of the High School, no admission charge is to be made but it is planned to take a collection up between the periods to in some measure cover the expense incurred in running the game.

The following girls are expected to turn out for basketball when R.V.C. will play Y.W.C.A. this afternoon:
1st Team—Z. Slack, A. Dunton, D. Russell, R. Dunton, J. Spier, M. Leggatt.
2nd Team—M. McWatters, J. Johnson, M. Pick, M. Pennington, P. Murray, E. Russell.
Spares—Allen, Turley.
A notice will be posted at R.V.C. this morning of the time and place when these games will be played off as previous arrangements had to be changed.

R.V.C. HOCKEY

There will be no hockey practice today, but there is a league game between the M.S.P.E. and the M.A.A.A. and it is urged that all who possibly can should turn out to encourage the contestants.

MICHIGAN GIRL BUMS WAY TO MINNESOTA GAME

Riding the "blinds" in zero weather, going without sleep for 35 hours, and at last being apprehended as a common "bum" tells the story of a loyal Michigan girl student's trip to see her team battle Minnesota. Her girlish wiles, combined with the charms of a sheepskin slicker, knickers, and a pair of bearskin mittens, won out over the native honesty of the conductor, and she was allowed to finish the trip in the caboose of the freight train. Michigan alumni in the Twin Cities banded together to purchase her a return ticket, and her trip was made perfect by a decisive victory for Michigan. She refused to divulge the name of her sorority.

DEBATING SOCIETY FOR SCIENCE FROSH

Much enthusiasm was shown last night when a record turnout of Science '26 gathered to organize a debating society. The meeting was called to order by Mules, who requested that all "gats" be checked at the door. Getting down to business Mules explained at length the aims and objects of the society. Nominations were then called for president and after a keen contest Thomson was elected, running Mules a close race by a majority of one. Thomson then took the chair and called for nominations for vice-president. A. P. Murphy was elected for the position and Thos. Smith as secretary. It was unanimously decided by the meeting that there be no treasurer appointed as there were no funds and no chance of getting any.

The rebellious character of the meeting, which more or less prevailed throughout, was again demonstrated when it was proposed that the meeting adjourn. Amid hearty applause from all sides and great hope and satisfaction in the new society the gathering broke up, it being quite clear that Science '26 Debating Society was off with a bang.

MUSIC UNDERGRADS WILL HOLD DEBATE

The Music Undergraduates' Society will hold its next meeting on January 31 in the Hall of the Conservatorium. PRESBYTERIANS ONCE MORE DEFEAT MCGILL SEXTETTE

Queen's 2, McGill 1—Defense of Tri-color Squad Proves Insurmountable—McGill Combines Well—Weak Shooting of Red and White Accounts for Defeat—Queen's Rooters and College Band Are Features.

Kingston, Ont., January 26 (Special to McGill Daily).—Despite brilliant combination plays, the inability of the McGill men to shoot and to effectively penetrate the perfect defence of the Queen's players, accounted for a two to one victory by the latter in the intercollegiate fixture which took place here this evening. There was a crowd of slightly over two thousand spectators on hand whose cheers, coupled with the songs of the Queen's rooters led by the College band, retained the interest at a high point the entire time of playing. The ice was in only fair condition; one end of the ice, that end twice defended by McGill, being several inches under water.

The game was the occasion for a display of superb combination on the part of the Red and White outfit, but the advantage they held in this department of the game was more than offset by their repeated failure, except in one instance when MacNaughton scored in the first period, to beat the Tri-Color goaltender, when their shots were tagged for the net. In most instances, however, the puck was wide of its mark, leaving the home goal minder unperturbed. Queen's after notching their two goals in the first period, before MacNaughton had come through for McGill's sole tally, put up a strictly defensive game, any attempts at bringing the play towards the visitors' goal being made by one, or at the most two, men rushes, leaving from three to four on their defense.

FIRST PERIOD

Queen's opened with a rush. The puck, however, returned to their end of the ice, but before the onlookers had fairly grasped the idea that the game was in progress recovered, and Gibson tallied after three minutes of play. This, followed by another counter by the same man four minutes later, gave the Presbyterians a lead of two points. Lynch and Munroe were shoved on by Shaughnessy in an endeavor to stave off the rush, replacing Morrison and MacNaughton. MacNaughton was off for but a moment, and returning fouled Quinn in the Queen's nets and gave McGill her one goal just before the bell rang for the end of the first period.

SECOND PERIOD

Queen's essayed a few interference plays at this stage of the contest, but desisted when cautioned by the referee, whose rulings were very strict. Lynch replaced Morrison at centre for McGill.

TWO GAMES TODAY IN WOMEN'S HOCKEY

R.V.C. vs. Macdonald, and M.S.P.E. vs. M.A.A.A.

To-day two games will be played in the Women's City Hockey League. In the morning the M.S.P.E. meet M.A.A.A. at the R.V.C. rink. In the afternoon R.V.C. plays Macdonald at St. Ann's. The R.V.C. team will be in a much better condition this afternoon than they were when they met M.S.P.E. last Monday. They have put in three strenuous practices since then and have picked up more speed and developed team-work to some extent. These practices, it may be added, were the first the team has had together and attempts are being made to hold them regularly in anticipation of the coming game with Varsity.

R.V.C. will have a hard game this afternoon if reports from Mac are true, and anyone who saw them play M.S.P.E. on Monday will feel certain that they will put up a good fight.

The game will be played at two o'clock at Mac. The line-up is as follows:

L. Kerr Goaler
M. Fry L. Defence
A. Roy (Capt.) R. Defence
C. Robertson R. Wing
D. Campbell Centre
H. Marshall L. Wing
Subs: — R. Grant, F. Stocking, F. Perry.

The train leaves Bonaventure Station at 12:15. Players are asked to be there early and if possible to have lunch first. All rooters are welcome.

The Physical Ed. hockey team play their second league game this morning at 11 o'clock in the hollow, against M.A.A.A. This will be the first occasion on which a McGill ladies' hockey team has ever met the Winged Wheel representatives. Not very much is known of the M.A.A.A. players, but a better exhibition is expected from the M.S.P.E. girls than that put forward in their first game. A few changes in the team and better combination should prove a strong offensive for their opponents.

The deadhead at the theatre is like a successful prediction—he has come to pass.

and Campbell came on for Queen's, playing a remarkably fine game. McGill beat Quinn again but the count was disallowed on a decision of an off-side play. The McGill forwards were playing well together, but were unable to outwit the three-man defense of their opponents. The play was tightening up, probably due to frequent substitution, particularly by Queen's. Flanagan was given scant opportunity of getting away. Body checking was becoming evident. Morrison almost scored. Queen's was visibly tiring, but the second stanza ended with no further additions to the scoring column.

THIRD PERIOD

The final period commenced at a fast rate, the back checking of the McGill men being especially effective. Referee Hewitson again cautioned Queens for interference. The Red and White forwards were forced to shoot from outside the Presbyterian defense, but did not succeed in scoring. Lynch, who took Flanagan's place was showing up well, while Dempsey was making repeated rushes, and shot twice, but Quinn scored. Flanagan replaced MacNaughton. Queens were utilizing one-man rushes, and failed to score only because of Morris' spectacular clearing. During the last few minutes Queen's were visibly stalling.

Referee—Hewitson (Toronto).

The teams:

Queens	Goal	McGill
Quinn	Morris
Smith	Dempsey
Macdonald	McGerigle
Brown	Flanagan
Banchu	Morrison
Gibson	MacNaughton

U. OF M. PLAYS TORONTO TONIGHT

U. of M. Out to Avenge Former Defeat

This evening at 8:15 Université de Montreal and Toronto Varsity hockey teams will meet in what is expected to be an extremely close and exciting game. On the last occasion when these two teams met, in Toronto overtime was necessary before Hudson of Toronto scored the winning goal. Since then both teams have been practising hard, and will be at top form for tonight's game.

The last game which Toronto played was on Thursday night, when they were defeated by the Hamilton team in an O.H.A. fixture. Montreal has not played since meeting Varsity last, but according to reports have been improving steadily. They look to Desbiens, whom Toronto writers said was the best man on the ice there, to do a big part in the game tonight. Desbiens is rated as just about the most dangerous man in the intercollegiate league this year, and accounted for most of the Montreal Varsity's goals in Toronto. He has an able second in Philip Lamarre at left wing.

The outstanding performer on the Toronto team this season has been Hudson, at left wing. He scored the winning goals in both of Toronto's overtime games, and has been playing brilliant hockey. He will be opposite A. Lamarre in tonight's game, who will have to work very hard to hold him. Parson, centre for Toronto, has so far not reached his last season's form, due to injuries and illness, but he is always a dangerous man.

Rumours of a new goalkeeper for the Montreal Varsity team have not been confirmed so far. In Toronto, Richardson performed quite brilliantly, and although against McGill he was rather weak, if he is in the net tonight he can be counted on to make a good many saves. Either Langtry or Thompson will be in the nets for Toronto. The game is at the Mount Royal Arena.

SCIENCE '24 WINS FROM COMMERCE '24

Fast Game in Interclass Hockey Series

A fast and hard fought game of hockey was played yesterday on the Campus Rink, between Commerce '24 and Science '24, the latter emerging victorious by the score of 5-1.

The game, however, was closer than the score would indicate and Commerce was dangerous at all times. In the first period Commerce had a little the better of the play, although Science managed to score two goals, the first being a hard clean shot into the upper corner of the net, while the second was shot out from behind the goal and glanced in off Wilson's pads.

In the next period, Science had much the better of the play and managed to score three goals while Commerce seemed to be weakening. Their lone tally came from the stick of Robertson on a pretty play.

For the winners, McGill and Lupton played an excellent game, while Robertson, Gilpin, Marpole and Wilson all turned in a good card for the losers.

Commerce—Goal, Wilson; defence, Stark and Robertson; centre, Marpole; wings, Gilpin and Annable; Subs: Goucher, Morrice, Williams.

Science—Goal, McCall; defence, McGillis and Findlay; wings, Cave and Roy; centre, Lupton; Subs: VanKoughnet, James, Pollock.

ARTS '23 BEATEN BY ARTS '26 IN BASEBALL

Arts '23 engaged Arts '26 in a lively game of baseball yesterday afternoon, in which the latter team emerged victorious by a score of 20-16.

The Freshmen took the lead at the beginning and maintained it for the rest of the game. They were out to humble their lordly seniors, and they all played hard to do it.

Both sides made some very pretty catches. Arts '26 has a very good batting team whilst both the pitchers showed steadiness in their pitching. The line-up was as follows:

Arts '23	Arts '26
Pitcher	Schripter
Catcher	Abramowitz
1st Base	Raphine
2nd Base	Held
3rd Base	Brotman
Shortstop	Fogul
Field	Newmann

WORKING THROUGH

Reports from college bureaus of student self-help prove that any young man can get an education without capital if he has industry and vigor to work part time for his sustenance. At Yale, during the last academic year, 1902 students, working at all kinds of jobs, earned $170,441. The total earnings of 500 men partly or wholly earning their way through Princeton totalled $161,530.

These excellent records pale beside that of the University of North Carolina, where 1280 students out of a total of 1700 did work. Their earnings came to $384,000. These earnest youths welcomed any kind of honest employment. Some shovelled coal, others cultivated gardens, washed windows, split wood, pressed clothes, waited on tables, scrubbed floors, and even tended babies. The picture of their occupations would amply refute Thomas A. Edison's charge that college men do not like to work.—N.Y. University News.

NOTABLE SPEAKER AT ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

On Monday night next, in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Dr. L. E. Perisseau will deliver a lecture to the Alliance Française on the subject of "Louis Pasteur and His Work." Dr. Perisseau is chief radiologist at the Hotel Dieu Hospital and is an Officier de l'Instruction Publique. He will no doubt deliver a very interesting and instructive address. The meeting is open to all students, and should prove a splendid opportunity of improving a knowledge of French, since the whole proceedings will of course be conducted in that language. The meeting will commence at 8:15.

SUPPOSE, tomorrow, all newspapers were discontinued. What a furore would be created. For we must have news!

Or suppose, that beginning tomorrow, the newspapers stopped running advertisements. We would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports, and activities of the police and criminals of one sort or another, add little to our comfort and happiness in this age of enlightenment.

Without advertising we would remain in total ignorance of much that concerns us vitally—news of the things that have to do with the personal, every-day life of each one of us.

Some one might be selling a new, better and more economical food, or a utensil that would add immeasurably to our comfort and well-being, or some material for making shoes or clothing—but we would never know it.

Modern advertising has made and is making the world better housed, better fed, better clothed. It has increased the world's capacity for things that elevate, improve and idealize the important business of living. It is a big vital force in fostering convenient and comfortable life. Without its direction we would overlook much and therefore lose much.

Don't fail to take advantage of advertising. It will prove invaluable to you.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY HEARD DR. BATES

Trees and Pulpwood Discussed Fully

An appreciative audience listened to Dr. John S. Bates, chemical engineer for the Bathurst Company of New Brunswick, lecture on "Decayed and Other Inferior Wood for Paper Making," yesterday afternoon in the Chemistry Building. The mills, Dr. Bates stated are trying to find ways and means of using larger quantities of inferior wood at a profit. Moreover, the pulp and paper industry is to a large extent a scavenger, for it uses grades and species of wood not suitable for lumber.

The spruce budworm has made many ravages amongst the balsam fir trees. At least 150,000,000 cords of pulpwood have already been killed by the budworm. The wood itself, however, is not directly injured but after the tree is killed, nature's methods is to continue the destruction through the agency of insects, fungi, molds and other destroyers.

After a tree is killed by budworm, there is no chance of improvement in the quality of the wood, so that the tree should be cut down as soon as possible before insects and fungi proceed too far with destruction. The logs with the bark on, left in the wood under the usual moist conditions are subject to rapid decay.

The physical properties of wood are weight, color, hardness and absorbent power. As to the chemical analysis of the wood, as yet it has not been developed to a stage where they are able to determine its exact chemical composition. But it is known that the wood is a mixture of cellulose and lignin.

Physical and chemical changes in the wood take place when the fungi attack it, and these changes are accompanied by loss of weight and changes of color which make the pulp less valuable.

The physical changes of the rotted wood give rise to mechanical difficulties in the pulp mill, but when it has once been prepared the yield of the paper is very good. The color changes give rise to an inferior grade of paper, but improved processes have made it possible to utilize great quantities of discoloured pulp wood.

Dr. Bates then went on to explain the various methods of the manufacture of pulp, some of these being, the sulphite process, the soda process and the kraft or sulphate process and ground-wood process. The sulphite process is an acid treatment and may be considered the mildest cooking processes with the least decomposition. The soda process applies mainly to hardwoods such as poplar, basswood and birch. The kraft process concerns softwoods, with special reference to strength of pulp, but with a disregard of color.

Summing up his very interesting lecture, Dr. Bates said that in the ground-wood processes decayed wood gives a medium to a high yield, but the quality of the product is poor. The sulphate process gives a comparatively high yield, and the quality also is fairly good. The soda process gives a rather low yield, and only fair quality. The kraft process gives a medium yield and the quality of the pulp is fairly good.

AND RIGHTLY SO.

Oh, I shook a little shudder,
And I sighed a little sigh,
And I gasped a gasp of anguish
As exam. it came nigh.

And he laughed a laugh of glee,
Frowned a frown of righteous justice,
And directly he flunked me.

KLINEBERG AND AVISON SPEAK

Impressions of Toronto Conference

"The only basis on which all the peoples in the world can be included as a brotherhood is the spiritual." "To solve the problem (the unfriendly feeling between the different creeds) there must be a feeling of sympathy and a mutual understanding, we must get the other man's point of view." Around these two sentences, uttered by Harry Avison and Otto Klineberg respectively, at the Temple Emmanuel last night, centred the remarks of the two speakers before a very interested audience.

Avison spoke first, giving his impressions of the recent conference at Toronto. "It is the result of a growing concern among students over problems of society, nation and race," he said. There were representatives of the five great religions of the world there, from Russia, Germany, France, England, West Indies, United States and many other countries. "The thing that struck me most was the open frank way in which students gave expression to their views and experiences. The expression: 'brotherhood of man,' was used continually. If people and nations could join together in a spirit of friendship as we did at Toronto there would be a firm basis for a brotherhood of man." Avison outlined several means of bringing about a more friendly relation between the Jews and non-Jews. First, by judging the individual by his own merit. Second, by educating ourselves to see what is good in the other man, and as Herbert Bray said at the conference "the recognition of God and Him the father, of all men equally."

Klineberg spoke of the gap that exists between Jews and Christians and was enthusiastic over the efforts made to overcome it. He feels that something worth while will result from the conference, saying "We were able to make others understand what the Jewish problem is." "I learned there that most Christians believe the Jews have segregated themselves into separate communities voluntarily, and many attribute this to a feeling of superiority entertained by the Jews and a desire to remain separated." But this is due, he thinks, to a feeling on the part of the Jews that they are not wanted in most Christian societies and organizations. "One main reason for the prejudice against the Jew is the religious education of the Christian; especially the children, who are taught that the Jews are a people apart and must be treated as a people apart. A second reason is that bad individuals have been taken as typical of the class. Some blame can be attributed to the Jews themselves. We have gradually developed a suspicion of Christians. We go around with a chip on our shoulder looking for trouble." Klineberg said that he felt assured very good results would come from the conference. On behalf of the student followers of his own faith he expressed the sincere desire to co-operate with the Christians to bring about a more friendly feeling between the two classes.

DR. PARK OF YALE TALKS ON RICKETS

Very Interesting Address Before Medical Gathering

A very interesting and instructive address was given last evening in the New Med. Building by Dr. Edwards Park of Yale University, under the auspices of the Alpha Omega Alpha Society of McGill. The meeting was well attended by students, professorial staff and representatives of the medical profession of Montreal.

The president, D. S. Macintosh, in opening the meeting called in Dr. Blackader, Prof. Emeritus of the Department of Therapeutics and Pediatrics, who after a few apropos introductory remarks introduced Dr. Park before the Society.

Dr. Park, in beginning his address, defined Rickets as a metabolic disturbance of the salt metabolism of the body so that calcium is no longer deposited in bones. After enumerating various theories as to the cause of the disease he went on to say that rickets was the result of, first, a deprivation of light and secondly, a deprivation of unknown substance which is contained in cod liver oil.

As a treatment for rickets, cod liver oil has been used in Holland and Scandinavia almost from time immemorial. In England it was first used in 1778 for the treatment of gout and rheumatism and rickets. Breteau of France, while treating a boy for rickets changed to learn from the child's father, who came from Holland, that in his country cod liver oil was used for a similar condition, and soon became universal in France.

Careful research work has shown the ultra violet ray induces deposition of calcium in bones in the same way as does cod liver oil. Dr. Park at this juncture showed some very splendid X-ray photographs illustrating this fact.

In attempting to reproduce rickets in animals it has been found that two factors are essential: 1, the animal must be deprived of radiant energy and, 2, deprived of an unknown factor, which is contained in cod liver oil.

The disease is unknown in the tropics, where the inhabitants are exposed to sunlight. Eskimos who live half the year in darkness never develop it, probably because fresh oil early becomes a part of their diet. Its prevalence among Italians and negroes is explained by the fact that their pigmentation insulates them from the light, and so prevents penetration of the ultra violet rays.

Many children who have rickets also have Tetany, which occurs when the calcium in the blood falls below a certain level, viz., 5 milligram per 100 c.c.

In concluding his address, Dr. Park emphasized the fact that man must be intended to live in the light and that an individual cannot thrive when deprived of radiant energy.

Following the address Dr. Finley moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Park after which those present adjourned to the pathological museum where Dr. Maude Abbott had prepared a collection of specimens and X-ray illustrations pertaining to rickets.

"Well," said the parrot, after listening to the lecturer on evolution, "at any rate no one can make a monkey out of me."

We notice in the Piqua Herald the following headline:

"Five School Children Die of Burns." This bears out our assertion that too much poetry is being taught in the public schools.

SELF-EDUCATION

It is frequently reiterated that the true value which the student derives from his education belongs only to self-education acquired by personal effort. The responsibility for the student's education does not rest entirely with the faculty. The student must make the effort. He must be awake intellectually.

A number of methods have been devised whereby the University helps to guide the student towards making self-education easier. In order that the student will not spread his studies over too great and diversified a field without gaining an understanding of any one subject, students in the College of Arts and Sciences are required to fill certain requirements as to majors and minors.

The selection of a major subject in which a somewhat advanced study must be made and of a minor which will co-ordinate with it should be carefully considered. Interest in the subject and the possible use made of the training received after the college education is complete must count with educators.

The student who has completed his major and minor requirements supposedly as a good knowledge of certain specified subjects. At least he has taken courses which aggregate a specified amount of required credit in these subjects. But suppose a general examination should be given over the whole subject, an examination which does not alone touch the specific courses the individual student has taken but touches the gaps in between these courses. Could the average student pass it? Has he a conception of the subject in which he has specialized as a whole or only of isolated fragments of it? Has he learned to co-ordinate his work?

Self-education should enter into the work in the major and minor group studies in a way which will make the student seek more knowledge on the subject. He should remember to view his studies as a related whole instead of as individual studies, the completion of which will eliminate any necessity of thinking more about them.

If the attitude is one of eager interest in gaining knowledge of a given subject and not of making enough hours to fill the group requirements the University study will mean more to the individual. Therefore care should be taken in the choice of majors and minors in order that every student will have the incentive to interest himself in the whole field of knowledge.—Daily Nebraskan.

RATING PERSONALITY

Dartmouth has come forward with a new selective process in the way of college entrance requirements. Beginning with next fall, this college will rate its candidates not only on intellectual ability but upon character and personality. It is the belief of Dartmouth that "positive qualities of character, wide range of interests and capable performance in school activities should operate as determining factors in selection."

This requirement is sufficiently flexible to keep out undesirable or unworthy students and represents a great advance over the old system of selecting by references from school principals and from friends. It does not, however, solve the problem which confronts the universities of the country.

Personality and character, in a young man of freshman age, are hard to rate even by his most intimate friends. Furthermore it is one of the greatest duties of a college to develop these very things. Should it ever become imperative that institutions of higher learning limit their enrollment, and the present rapid growth would indicate such, a method as the one adopted by Dartmouth would be indefensible, for it would strike at the very roots of the fundamental principle of this country—equal opportunity for all.—Daily Iowan.
